FAIRFAX COUNTY POLICE DEPARTMENT

4100 CHAIN BRIDGE ROAD, FAIRFAX, VIRGINIA 22030-7002

Colonel J. Thomas Manger
Chief of Police

Dear Fairfax County Community Member,

Throughout the past year, the Fairfax County Police Department (FCPD) has continued to meet emerging challenges, through innovative and creative means, in its effort to provide for the public safety of the citizens of Fairfax County. To this end, attention will remain focused on the following: continuing to deliver superior police services in the face of rapidly increasing urbanization, maintaining one of the area's lowest per capita spending, and maintaining the excellent level of citizen participation developed over the past years.

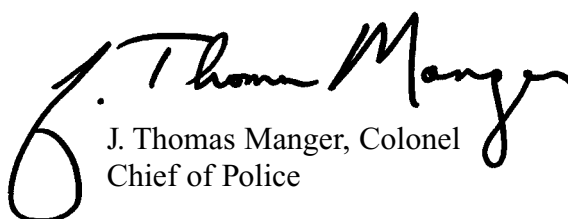

In the coming years, the FCPD will continue to rigorously pursue its mission of crime prevention, the successful investigation of criminal offenses, the diligent enforcement of traffic laws, and the promotion of public safety through community policing and education programs. The continued growth of Fairfax County will undoubtedly bring lasting challenges to the Department. As these needs are identified, the Department will face the tasks of maintaining the high quality of its personnel, providing them with the best possible training, facilities and equipment, and developing new and specialized programs to satisfy specific demands.

The Fairfax County Police Department has earned widespread respect and recognition for its accomplishments. You may be assured that this agency will continue to build upon that distinguished record of integrity and fairness, and is prepared to meet the demands and challenges of the future. With your support, we will maintain the excellence of police service we are providing to our community.

This annual report also demonstrates the diverse abilities and skills possessed by Department employees and the array of equipment and facilities utilized by the Department in fulfilling its mission of providing round-the-clock police service throughout the county.

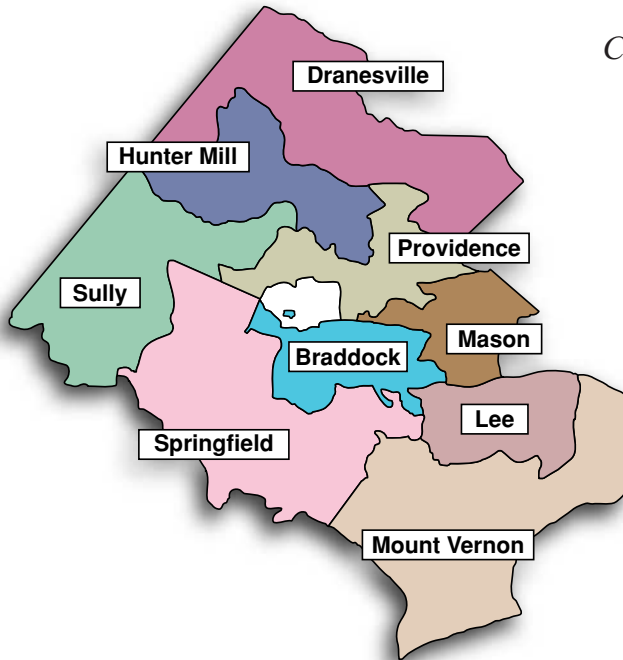

Sincerely,

DEPARTMENT'S COMMUNITY POLICING DEFINITION:

Community Policing is a proactive and cooperative partnership between the Fairfax County Police Department and the community to improve the overall quality of life by:

- Fostering and maintaining mutual trust and respect.
- Preventing crime and disorder.
- Recognizing and solving problems.
- Identifying and arresting offenders.

MISSION:

The Fairfax County Police Department protects persons and property by providing essential law enforcement and public safety services, while promoting community involvement, stability and order through service, assistance and visibility.

GOALS:

I. STRENGTHEN COMMUNITY PARTNERSHIPS

To develop and sustain strong community partnerships, the members of the Police Department and the citizens of this community must maintain relationships built on mutual respect, understanding and trust. The community must have confidence both in the process of law enforcement and in the people who are sworn to administer it fairly and judiciously. The community is encouraged and empowered to identify neighborhood problems, speak out on issues of concern, and help to shape the delivery of police services. The Police Department will strive to provide real solutions to problems of crime and public safety in the community while continuously seeking substantive feedback from the community regarding the quality and methods of police service delivery.

II. ENHANCE COMMUNITY-BASED POLICE SERVICES

To the extent possible, police services will be based in the community and will be delivered by Police Department professionals who have an intimate knowledge of the people, neighborhoods and cultures of that community. The Police Department will provide citizens easy access to the people and services of the Police Department and responsiveness to community issues while preserving, where justified, the economies and efficiencies of centralization, which are sometimes necessary for highly specialized and complex services.

POLICE DEPARTMENT GENERAL INFORMATION

III. PROMOTE RESPONSIBILITY & ACCOUNTABILITY

The Police Department exists to fulfill the responsibilities of law enforcement by using the authority and resources vested to it by the community. The Department is accountable to the community for the efficient and effective use of those resources, and the fair, impartial and judicious exercise of that authority. The Department will achieve this goal through management practices which place responsibility and accountability, both individual and team, at the core of our organizational culture.

IV. MAXIMIZE OUR HUMAN RESOURCES

At the heart of every success is a dedicated and motivated person whose courage, resourcefulness and creativity have made the difference. The Police Department will seek and hire such individuals, give them the best possible training throughout their career, empower them to make a real difference in their community, provide them with the tools necessary to succeed, and reward and recognize their accomplishments.

V. HARNESS PROVEN TECHNOLOGY

The Police Department must harness and be proficient with modern technology; it is an integral part of our society and the most powerful tool available to law enforcement in the fight against crime. The Department will aggressively seek to obtain practical and proven technology at an affordable price, then utilize it effectively to reduce crime and support police services to the community.

COMMITMENT TO SUPERIOR POLICE SERVICE

FAIRFAX COUNTY POLICE DEPARTMENT'S COMMITMENT TO SUPERIOR POLICE SERVICE

The foundation of the successful community policing strategy in Fairfax County is the close, interactive relationship between officers and community members working toward the goal of reducing crime and its effects. Our efforts focus on the underlying causes of crime by assessing the characteristics of problems in specific neighborhoods and application of appropriate, mutually supported problem-solving remedies in a partnership role. Genuine progress requires the active participation of civic groups, business leaders, private agencies, churches, schools, hospitals and other local government support agencies. Although traditional incident driven response and service delivery is an inherent and necessary part of our responsibility to provide effective law enforcement in Fairfax County, a significant portion of our response effort is proactive in nature and is equally served from within a community policing framework. Paramount to successful community policing is an understanding of the two core components, community partnership and problem solving.

Although our delivery of police services is organized by geographic patrol area, a community may encompass widely diverse cultures, values, social groups, and concerns. Even where a community may be bound by strong ethnic, racial, religious, historical, or occupational ties, concerns and priorities can vary greatly. The multiple and frequently conflicting interests require officers, supervisors, and commanders to act as skillful mediators as well as police professionals. Community partnership represents the adoption of a policing perspective and broadened outlook, which recognizes the value of official duties that contribute to quality of life improvements and neighborhood integrity.

The second primary component of community policing is based on the belief that certain underlying conditions contribute to problems within a community and certain conditions can manifest themselves into crime related incidents. Variables, such as the characteristics of persons involved, the social setting in which interaction occurs, and the physical environment, are all elements which must be recognized as potentially influential in seeking resolutions. Care must be taken in that problem solving in and of itself is not community policing. Community participation in identifying and establishing priorities will contribute to effective problem solving by the citizen-police partnership and serve to reinforce trust and facilitate information exchange.

CITIZENS POLICE ACADEMY

The Fairfax County Police Department has developed a Citizens Police Academy (CPA) to give members of the community a better understanding of the operation of the Police Department and a greater awareness of the daily challenges faced by our officers. The CPA is a 10-week program.

Implementation of the CPA is not intended to replace any of the Department's existing community involvement programs. However, it is believed that a formalized CPA will further aid the Department in partnering with the community, building trust, and ultimately enhancing police services.

A variety of subjects will be covered in the classes offered at the CPA. The class structure will offer participants a chance to get a close-up look at the agency's policing philosophy and the resources used to keep Fairfax County safe. Class topics will cover the following areas:

- Department overview (including history, police training and organizational structure).
- Operations of the Public Safety Communications Center.
- Patrol Operations.
- Criminal Investigations.
- Agency Resources (including K-9, Marine Patrol, Tactical Section, Helicopter, and Dive Team).
- Animal Control Operations.
- Auxiliary Police and Volunteers in Police Service (VIPS).
- Emergency Vehicle Operations and the Firearms Training Unit.

TRAFFIC IN FAIRFAX COUNTY

The responsibility for ensuring the safe and orderly flow of pedestrian and vehicular traffic in the County of Fairfax rests with all employees of the Department. It is recognized, however, that the degree of specialization required of personnel in a large police agency results in varying levels of responsibility for this function. While there are areas of shared responsibility, the police traffic service role is divided into four primary areas of responsibility: traffic administration, traffic direction and control, traffic ancillary services and traffic engineering.

The Traffic Division of the Police Department is currently divided into seven sections, which are responsible for coordinating the Department's activities in the four primary areas of responsibility.

- Motor Section
- Accident Reconstruction Section
- Auxiliary Police Section
- Photo-Red Light Section
- Traffic Safety Section
- Vehicle Impound Section
- Parking Enforcement Section

SEPTEMBER 11TH

As did most public safety agencies in the metropolitan area, the Fairfax County Police Department immediately offered its assistance to all responding agencies at the Pentagon on 9/11. Both of the Department's helicopters were put into service and dispatched to the area around the Pentagon along with the mobile command bus. Personnel were on-site for an extended amount of time assisting in a wide variety of tasks associated with the rescue efforts.

Because of its relative close proximity to the nation's capital, the events of September 11, 2001 have had a profound effect on the Department. The wide array of Federal Government facilities and buildings, headquarters of large multi-national corporations, and the residences of high-profile individuals have required the Department to reposition some of its resources to avoid disruptions, along with increasing patrols and visibility. Additionally, the Department realizes the importance of keeping Fairfax County and its citizens safe and preventing any future terrorist attacks, so it has combined its assets with those of a variety of federal law enforcement agencies to gather the most detailed intelligence and law enforcement expertise.
